The Duntov Trophy

Zora Arkus-Duntov was hired by Ed Cole one month before the first 1953 Corvette was built. Zora's "job" was to turn the Corvette into America's Sports Car. When Zora retired 22 years later as the first Corvette Chief Engineer, he had done far more than just his job!

As a celebration of his life and passion the Motor City Corvette Concours is proud to present the Zora Arkus-Duntov Trophy. In cooperation with the National Corvette Museum, this trophy will be awarded to "The Best of the Best" of the Motor City Corvette Concours invitees.

The winners name will be added to this trophy, which will be displayed in a special exhibit at the National Corvette Museum.
